AUDITOR'S OFFICE, WOODFIELD, MONROE COUNTY, OHIO, Oct. 13, 1845.

Agreeably to the provisions of an act entitled "an Act to provide for the sale of Lands forfeited to the State, for the non-payment of taxes," passed March 14, 1831, and an amendatory act thereto, passed February 15, 1842. I hereby give notice to all concerned, that if the taxes, interest and penalties charged on the above list, be not paid into the County treasury, and the Treasurer's receipt produced therefor before the 8th day of December next, that then, and in that case each tract of Land or Lot, so as aforesaid delinquent, on which the taxes, interest and penalties may remain unpaid, will on the Second Monday of December next, (being the 8th day of said month), be exposed for sale at the Court House, in said county of Monroe, in order to satisfy such taxes, interest and penalties.

JNO. M. KIRKBRIDE, Auditor, Monroe County.

PROSPECTUS OF THE "CONGRESSIONAL UNION," AND "APPENDIX."—The undersigned respectfully inform the public, that, with the commencement of the approaching session of Congress, they will begin the publication of the "Congressional Union" and "Appendix." The first will contain a full and accurate history of the proceedings of both branches of the national Legislature. It will be compiled with such care that every citizen who is interested in the public affairs will find it a complete synopsis of their proceedings, and a book of reference upon all questions which come before them.

The second, ("the Appendix") will contain every speech which is delivered in the House of Representatives and Senate during the session, reported at length by a full and able corps of congressional reporters, and revised before publication by the authors, whenever it is requested. These two works will be strictly impartial, and are intended to be as interesting and useful to the man of business, and to the politician of the one party, as of the other.

It may be said, without exaggeration, that the next session of Congress is destined to be one of the most important which has taken place since the foundation of the government. It is the long session. It is the session which will develop the general plan of the administration. Its measures will stamp the character of our institutions for years to come. Some of the most important questions which are connected with our foreign relations, or our domestic concerns, will be presented for their consideration. The final measure of ratifying the constitution of Texas, which is to consummate her admission into our Union, and the admission of her members into our public councils—every measure which affects the Oregon question—our relations with Mexico—as well as the final decision on the revived Zoll Verien treaty—these and other measures which are more or less connected with our foreign relations, will come under the review of the approaching Congress. Most of the eminently important questions which relate to our internal concerns the revision of the tariff—the adoption of the best mode of preserving public moneys—a variety of commercial measures—perhaps the best system for regulating the important interests of Texas—the Indian questions—the land question—the best system for our navy—these and others will constitute a mass of business which is calculated to command much of the time of Congress, and much of the attention of the people. They will all be reported by the "Congressional Union."

The Daily, Semi-Weekly, and Weekly Union, will, as usual, embrace an interesting variety of matter on political, scientific, and literary subjects, along with the current news of the day. The editor will continue to devote all his energies to the improvement of "the Union." He finds many accomplished men in this city. The administration has brought with it a considerable accession of talents. Several tried and distinguished members of the democratic party have accepted office under it. Some of them have liberally contributed their literary labors to our benefit; and we have to enlist others in our service. Besides the time is not far distant when the editor intends to call out talents to his assistance. His ambition is, to make his paper worthy of the metropolis of the Union. He is persuaded that, with the facilities which his position enables him to employ, with the official and other materials placed within his reach; and with the aid of the correspondence which he is attempting to establish in foreign countries, a paper may be published, which is not unworthy of the support of his country. In undertaking the task, he knew he had many difficulties to overcome, many lessons to learn, many sacrifices to encounter. He knew that, amid the arduous cares of a new theatre, he could not at first flatter himself. What enthusiasm and industry can effect, will be fully accomplished. Some errors he may have already committed. But upon one point, he can speak with great pleasure and with equal freedom. The men who are administering this government are working men are anxious, as he believes, to do their duty, to serve their country, to carry out the pledges under which the President was elected, and the great principles of the party. So long as the administration is conducted in this spirit, and upon those principles, he is prepared to co-operate with them in the public service; and to give them, as he promised in his prospectus, "a fair, liberal, and efficient support."

We feel a deep sense of gratitude for the prompt manner in which our political friends, in every section of the country have already come forward to sustain the "Union." May we not hope that our friends throughout the United States will continue to assist our labors, and prevail upon their friends to take some other edition of the "Union?"

As this will be the long session of Congress and will probably last eight months, we have concluded to publish the CONGRESSIONAL UNION AND APPENDIX on the following

PROSPECTUS OF THE OHIO STATESMAN.—The undersigned respectfully announce to the DEMOCRACY OF OHIO, that they have purchased of COL. SAMUEL MCKAY, all his interest in the Ohio Statesman newspaper, from and after the 1st of July 1845. The paper will, as heretofore, advocate, unflinchingly, democratic principles and measures, and give the strongest support to the regularly nominated candidates of the Democratic Party, that it will be in the power of the undersigned to afford. To firmly support the National Administration—to maintain the right of this country to the territory of Oregon—to uphold the great doctrine of the sovereignty of the people, as contended for by the patriot Dora—to contend for the adjustment of the tariff in such a manner as shall do justice to the great Agricultural interest of the West—to labor for the settlement of the National Finance question in a way that shall prevent the public moneys from becoming the means of individual aggrandisement—and to strenuously support any measure calculated to make the laws of Ohio, embodiments of the principles of Liberty and Equality, and to give to the State a sound currency;—these are the objects which the undersigned propose to themselves in the new and arduous position which they have assumed. Their success must depend upon the amount and the character of the support which they shall receive at the hands of the Democracy of the great Empire State of the West, whose voice in the National Councils is so important, and whose example, in the management of their internal affairs, is destined to exert a vast influence upon all quarters of the Union, and particularly to give a character to the legislation of the new communities which are constantly arising, and demanding to be admitted to the rights and privileges enjoyed by the members of the confederacy.

The undersigned have invested a large amount of capital in their present undertaking. They have brought to its support, whatever of talent and enterprise they possess. Their interest is identical with that of the West; and there is no incentive to exertion—no motive which can incite men to a faithful
